

"LAY OF THE LOST LIVER."
Beneath the heaving diaphragm
A voiceless liver lies;
She cannot tell of all her woes—
She simply does and dies.

Her owner to the doctor goes
To see "was her den los is";
The doc looks wise, then gravely says
"My friend, you have berceola."

All liverless they buried him—
For him no liver worst;
His friends stood by to see him off,
Each with an awful thirst.

The river at this point is free from running ice and the ferryboat Laurence is making her usual trips.

Linen Information That Will Interest You.

About midway between Brussels and Boulogne, and lying partly in Belgium, partly in France, is a strip of territory that produces probably the finest flax in the world. You know one name best —Courtrai—and the flax that's grown there is woven, not only in Bel-finest of linen.

And the Belgians are just as expert in weaving table linens as they are in growing the flax. Splendidly honest, substantial, dura-

SOME politicians and newspapers have had their reasons for opposing Taft, but the people have had no reason to go back on the capable and conscientious President. The American people want the Government run right. Taft has been doing that and the people ought to stand by Taft.—Des Moines Capital.

THE public the idea is occasionally that cities or communities frequented by tuberculosis persons present conditions favorable for the infection of the well. While it was difficult to secure conclusive evidence to prove the error of the assumption referred to, yet a study of the question would indicate that casual contact and house infection were of relatively slight importance, and that if the presence of a large number of "open cases" were a factor of great importance in spreading tuberculosis, there should be some correlation between the death-rate of imported and acquired cases in the various communities. None of the states except Arizona classifies separately the deaths from imported cases and those from locally acquired tuberculosis. It is found that in Denver, which also makes this distinction classifying these deaths, the death-rate from locally acquired tuberculosis, while it fluctuates somewhat, is low and is certainly not increasing.

California also classifies these deaths according to length of residence and while the line cannot be distinctively drawn between imported and locally acquired cases, yet the conclusion as that the death-rate from tuberculosis is no higher in southern California, which receives most of the imported cases, than it is in the central and northern portions of the state. The abundance of sunshine, which quickly destroys the germ, and the possibility of out door life in most of these communities together with the supervision exercised by physicians over this class of patients and the instruction given them as to the spread of infection and adoption of correct hygienic measures, make these communities as safe for the general public as the communities less favored by climate. The Journal of the American Medical Association says that tuberculosis is notoriously a disease dependent on poverty, malnutrition, dust, bad air and bad housing, these conditions in the closely populated industrial centers with less supervision cases really afford much greater opportunity for the spread of this infection than many open but supervised resort communities.

The Pueblo (Col.) Opinion says this is how tariff reform is working in practical operation: "The imports on which duty was paid amounted to $750,000,000. The imports which came in free amounted to $776,000,000. Can you see wherein the country profited? Not one article that came in free has been reduced in price, but almost every article, especially all articles of food, have increased in price. Free Trade is a fake and ruinous to the nation that adopts it."

ALL that a pedestrian has to do, anywhere on the public highway, is to exercise reasonable care and prudence, slightly more at other places than at crossings.

But the burden is largely on the driver of the vehicle to take pains to avoid accidents. The pedestrian has the right to use any part of the highway, not recklessly, but with ordinary judgment. It is not his duty, to jump at the horse nor at an automobile horn and surrender the right of way to the vehicle. —Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

RIGHTS OF PEDESTRIANS. There seems to be a lot of figuring and advice by Democratic politicians just now on the best method of redistricting Kentucky advantageously to the Democrats. None of them appear to realize that the best method of doing that is to redistrict the State with a view of absolute fairness instead of to partisan advantage. With both Democrats and Republicans a district apportionment is always synonymous with a gerrymander. The political game is about the only sport in which the players do not even pretend to fairness.—Courier Journal.

FAIR PLAY WANTED. Statisticians who have been at work on this important subject find that during 1911 there were 11,123 new books published in the United States and 10,914 in Great Britain.

THE BOOKS OF 1911. Evidently the printers and binders of neither country have any reason to feel depressed.

BUT the American book publishing record of 1911 shows a decline, as compared with the previous year, while the British record shows an increase.

FOR a great many years it has been a common saying that there are altogether too many books published. That statement requires some qualification, however, before it can be accepted as true. It all depends upon the kind of books. Undoubtedly there are too many trivial and no-account books offered the public, but there must always be a large amount of chaff along with the good wheat. If opportunities for publication were limited, in the hope that much of the unworthy literature could in that manner be eliminated, many a good book would never see the light of day. On that theory it is far better to have too many books published than to few.—Times-Star.

THE BOY WHO BEAT TOSY.

"And how old are you?" the teacher asked next. "I do not know how old I have," said the lad.

THE question of a military guard for the White House is occasioning much discussion, both among people who think soldiers should be detailed there and among others who oppose that plan. Adherents to the plan for a military guard had to combat the objection of others that this would be undemocratic, but they pointed out that the president of practically every republic in the world is guarded against danger by soldiers. It would not be necessary to have such a large force of soldiery as to lend too much of a military air to the White House, it was pointed out. Col. John McElroy, a prominent G. A. R. man, proposed that the president's guard be selected from among honorably discharged soldiers. Such a plan, he said, not only would lend proper dignity to the White House, but would tend to provide rewards for men who have served the nation creditably in war. The veterans would be looked up to with respect, he said, and no one could claim that they were undemocratic.

"I can think of no greater inducement which could be offered to men to enter the army than the thought that some day they might be detailed in Washington as a guard of honor to the president of the republic," said Colonel McElroy. "It would be a splendid idea. Many of the nations of Europe have such a plan, and it always has worked admirably. This is a work for retired soldiers who have not outlived their usefulness, which should be advocated by all patriotic persons. It would be excellent to have men in soldier uniform guarding both the inside and the outside of the executive mansion."

With the continued growth of the city, it is said, all policemen will have to be recalled from detail work, or the force will have to be increased. Should the military guard be established, they argue, the country would not be put to any additional expense, the presence of the soldiers at the White House would add to the dignity of the place, and the Washington police force would be made more efficient.

THE authorities of the state of Delaware have communicated to the navy department a request that the wooden statue of Tumecseh, Indian chief, which formed the figurehead of the old ship of the line Delaware, be turned over to them, but the officers who have graduated from the naval academy, where the figure of the old brave is now, are not likely to permit its removal without vigorous protest.

Not only is the feeling general that the naval academy is the proper location for as many of the relics of the old navy as can be secured, but the peculiar position of old Tumecseh in the traditions of the academy make its removal almost out of the question.

Brought to Annapolis shortly after the return of the academy from Newport, to which it was transferred during the Civil war, and set up in a prominent place between the old seamen's building and the department of ordnance and gunnery, the midshipmen almost at once raised the statue to the position of an idol, and dubbed it "The God of 2.5," the figure being that which is necessary to obtain in order to pass an examination at the academy.

The authorities of the academy are now securing data about the history of Tumecseh, the means by which it reached the academy and the place it occupies in the tradition of the institution. There is no doubt that when it becomes generally known in the navy that a move is on foot to tear the old god of a passing mark from the surroundings in which it has become a tradition, a protest will reach the department which will make it impossible to remove it to a less familiar location.

Officers now grown gray remember when they prostrated themselves before the line old relic of the bygone wooden navy, and are even now willing to give it the successful passage of examinations which were necessary to them in order to hold their place in the service. The custom has been faithfully observed during a half century of the academy's existence.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Nun Is "Modiste" to Society Belles

WASHINGTON.—Silks and satins of a world renowned are made in turn to pay their tribute to the church by Sister Clara, the "Mlle. Modiste" of the convent.

Day long she sits in St. Rose's Industrial school, where many women of wealth and culture known in official and diplomatic Washington circles come to be fitted with gowns which rival those of a Paquin and which are the product of Sister Clara's creative genius.

No fashionable atelier can boast of a more distinguished patronage than can the little room where Sister Clara meets her clients.

The wife and daughters of President Roosevelt were gowns of her design when they lived in the White House, and the list now includes society dames such as Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. Martha Elchorn Pearsall, Mrs. Townsend and her daughter Mathilde, who is now the wife of Peter Golet Gerry; Mrs. I. Kins and her daughter, Miss Katherine Ikins; Mrs. George E. Howard and Mme. Pedernelras, wife of the attache of the Brazilian embassy. In the past the list included Senora and Senorita Godoy of the Mexican embassy; Mme. Carbo of the Ecuador embassy; Mme. de Blanpre, Mme. de Amaral of the Brazilian embassy, Mme. Adele Cortazar and Mrs. Foraker, wife of Senator Foraker.

Sister Clara was once a leader in the cultured circles of a big eastern city, supposed to be New York. She is the child of wealthy parents, reared in luxury and convent bred. When she was graduated she became one of the best known of the younger set in her home city.

But society life did not charm her, and the years of her convent life reasserted themselves and she became a novice. Being a girl of superior tastes, she chose St. Rose's Industrial school as the place for her life work.

Each year Sister Clara goes to New York and often to Paris to keep up with the styles.

How Two Department Heads Compromised

D. R. WILEY, the pure fooder, and Willis L. Moore, the boss weatherman, are great cronies. They are drawn together by the fact that each is a daily victim of amateur jesters and sidewalk merry-makers who persist in cracking the same old jokes about the weather or things to eat.

Wiley and Moore were talking to a couple of friends the other day and somebody suggested a dinner. Wiley said he would be in for it, and Moore said he would. So it was arranged that the dinner should be held at the Cosmos club the next night.

When the guests arrived, Moore, believing himself the host, indicated the way to a table where the feast he had ordered was to be spread.

"But the dinner's to be served at this table over here," said Wiley, pointing to another end of the dining room.

"Well, who's running this, anyhow?" inquired Moore. "I guess I'm the host."

"I beg your pardon," said Wiley, "but I happen to be the host, and—"

There it was. Each had thought himself the host and ordered an elaborate and highly edible layout of stuff in advance.

Wiley's food scheme included milk-fed chickens, hatched from a Strictly Fresh egg, and Moore had arranged for a beefsteak the size of a doormat and as thick as a law book. The two hosts stood midway between the two tables and argued about the merits of the rival feasts with all the imaginative words picturings of a pair of press agents. After each had failed to convince the other, Wiley suggested a compromise. It was a compromise characteristic of Wiley, who has one of those shaft-driven, internal expanding appetites.

"I'll admit that your table is in the best location," began the doctor, "so we'll move my costly feast over to your table, and we'll eat both dinners!"

And when it was all over, Wiley leaned back and expressed the hope that double dinners would become popular. He said it was the only way to eat.

The authorities of the academy are now securing data about the history of Tumecseh, the means by which it reached the academy and the place it occupies in the tradition of the institution. There is no doubt that when it becomes generally known in the navy that a move is on foot to tear the old god of a passing mark from the surroundings in which it has become a tradition, a protest will reach the department which will make it impossible to remove it to a less familiar location.

Officers now grown gray remember when they prostrated themselves before the line old relic of the bygone wooden navy, and are even now willing to give it the successful passage of examinations which were necessary to them in order to hold their place in the service. The custom has been faithfully observed during a half century of the academy's existence.

Twenty-six States have recently enacted laws requiring those who profess to fit glasses to show that they are competent.

Those not able to pass the examinations are moving to States where no examination is required. Kentucky and Ohio have no laws regulating the practice of optometry, therefore there are many of the incompetent opticians of other States working these States.

Public Ledger

WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1897.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1899.

MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1912

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

A woman can go into the biggest department store on earth, and without half trying ask for something they haven't got.

A Savings Postal Bank will be established at the Brooksville Postoffice February 20th.

Mrs. Mary Conroy of near Powersville has been quite sick for some time, suffering with infirmities due to her extreme age, 92, her recovery not being looked for.

Could Have Saved Money

You can save money by spending it right, as well as by laying it aside.

For instance there are many people who do not buy the right medicine for their ailments, and pay out many dollars before they learn just what to do.

Mrs. Alex Dumas of Malone, N. Y., knows this now. She says "A very heavy cold settled on my lungs last winter and for three months I coughed almost constantly. At night I could hardly get any sleep. I tried several medicines but none of them did me any good. Then I thought I would use Vinol and it began to help my cough from almost the first dose."

"I do not cough at all now, I can sleep well and have gained much strength, all because I took your splendid tonic."

When you buy Vinol for your cough, or to build you up, you are getting the best remedy that can be had and will not need to experiment with any others. We guarantee Vinol to do you good and will give back your money if you are not well satisfied. J. C. Pecor, Druggist, Maysville.

HORSE FLESH

Will Be Higher This Spring Than At Any Time Since the Civil War

Hillsboro (Ohio) Gazette.

That good horses will be much higher in price, probably higher than at any time since the Civil War, is the opinion of Colonel Frank Ayres. When asked for reasons and more particulars, Colonel Ayres said:

"As everybody knows there has been a larger number of deaths of horses this winter than even the oldest man can remember. The veterinarians say that bad corn and bad fodder have been the cause. That is correct I believe, but it is not the real cause of the high prices of horses. Last fall good horses sold for about $150, and the best animals for even more money. But at the price of feed now—days no farmer can winter a horse for less than $12 a month. Those who did not sell their horses in the fall have had to keep them six months. Add $70 to $150 and you'll find that right around two and a quarter will be the price for the better grade."

"Of course there will always be second and third rate animals but the demand is for good horses. Many draft animals will sell for $250. Another thing will boost the price. That is that this winter little or no sod has been broken and when spring opens up everybody will begin plowing at the same time and all want horses. The result will be that prices will be forced a little higher for that reason."

"But speaking of horses dying, I heard in Chillicothe the other day that each of the two fertilizer factories at that city, have used an average of 100 horses a month for the past three months. That means a lot of deaths."

Mrs. Sarah Jane Ballinger died at Mt. Sterling Tuesday, aged 93 years. She was a native of this county and relict of Bluford Ballinger, who lived at Washington many years ago. A son is Jailor of Fayette county.

CHINESE FAMINE

Pitiful Stories of Starvation—Novel Plans for Relief

It will doubtless surprise Americans to learn that in many of the interior cities of China are civic improvement associations whose objects are similar to those of such organizations in this country. The most enlightened and public spirited Chinese are banded together in these associations for the purpose of promoting education, sanitation, and the common good and to suppress graft and other forms of political corruption. All of which sounds familiar to American ears.

For the first time these organizations of the Chinese "best people" are to be actively enlisted in carrying out the famine relief measures planned by the relief committee at Shanghai. This is of especial interest in the United States because the relief funds now being raised by the Red Cross will be distributed through the Shanghai Committee.

The famine relief fund will be largely used in employing the famine sufferers to reconstruct their own dykes and roads which have been destroyed by floods. Thus the idle and despairing people will be enabled to earn a living while waiting for another harvest and will at the same time be helping to restore their country to normal conditions. One of the most serious problems in relief operations attending other famines has been the pauperizing effect upon the population of receiving support during prolonged periods of idleness. The plan now to be adopted promises to reduce this demoralizing result. Mr. C. D. Jameson, the American Red Cross engineer who has recently traveled extensively through the districts which have suffered much from famines in late years, reports that the people, finding crops usually a failure and relief certain, show a natural inclination to abandon their lands and turn to beggary. This tendency it is hoped now to check by means of a system of relief based upon honest work.

The present unsettled political conditions in China make it impossible for the Chinese Government to contribute liberally to the relief funds. For this reason it becomes more imperative that the United States, always China's friend, shall respond to the need generously. Famine conditions are so desperate that any description of them seems almost incredible. Mr. Jameson writes of processions of gaunt, starving people wandering aimlessly along the roads, falling and dying in the mud when they can go no farther. Day after day he passed dead bodies of men, women and children lying where they had fallen. And the famine must continue until summer before new crops can be harvested. Nearly 3,000,000 persons live in these famine districts, which cover thousands of square miles.

The Shanghai Relief Committee has asked the United States to raise a relief fund of a $1,000,000 and the American Red Cross is endeavoring to do all possible to meet the need. Contributions for this purpose sent to the Red Cross in Washington or to the officers of Red Cross Chapters or State Boards will be cabled to China without unnecessary delay.

Reports on Pension Bill

A GREAT DISCOVERY Certain Ingredients That Really Promote Hair Growth When Properly Combined

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Naphol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its natural nourishment, and also creates a clean, healthy condition of the scalp which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin, although not a coloring matter or dye, is a well-known ingredient for restoring the hair to its natural color, when the loss of it has been caused by a disease of the scalp.

These ingredients in proper combination, with alcohol added as a stimulant and for its well-defined nourishing properties, perfect perhaps the most effective remedy that is known for scalp and hair troubles.

I have a remedy which is chiefly composed of these ingredients, in combination with other extremely valuable medicinal agents. I guarantee it to positively cure dandruff and to grow hair, even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair. If there is any vitality left in the roots, it will positively cure baldness, or I will refund your money. If the scalp has a glazed, shiny appearance, it is an indication that baldness is permanent, but in other instances I believe baldness is curable.

I want every one troubled with scalp disease or loss of hair to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not cure dandruff and grow hair to the satisfaction of the user, I will without question or quibble return every cent paid me for it. I print this guarantee on every bottle. It has effected a positive cure in 93% of cases where put to a practical test. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike, and I think, in every particular, better than anything else I know of for the purpose for which it is prescribed. I urge you to try this preparation at my entire risk. Certainly I know of no better guarantee to give you. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Maysville only at my store—The Rexall Store, Thos. J. Chenoweth, corner Second and Sutton streets.

MAIL BAGS OF RULERS

Pope's the Largest—Kaiser's Next
With 7,500 Letters a Day

The mail bag at the Vatican probably contains the largest number of letters that are addressed to any single person or institution. After the Pope, the Kaiser receives the greatest number, fully half being addressed to him personally.

Emperor William never less than 7,500 letters daily, a goodly proportion of which, according to Harper's Weekly, are appeals to right wrongs about which he knows nothing and would be powerless to act if he did. Many are private diplomatic letters.

After him comes the President of the United States, who gets a daily average of 5,000 letters. The mail of the present King of England has dwindled to 2,500 letters, probably a third of the number received by his father. The mail bag of the Czar is smaller still, about 500 persons writing daily to one well known to be hedged in by officialdom.

It is said that the royal palace in Madrid gets 300 letters, addressed for the most part to King Alfonso, but a share falling to the lot of the Queen. The Italian King gets only about 200 letters daily, while the mail bag of the President of France varies greatly.

When the foreign population in Paris is most numerous his mail reaches as high an average as the American President, but in other months the average is comparatively small. It is said that the Emperor of Japan has only recently begun to be troubled in this matter, letters to him being mainly in the nature of appeals to add by and by to his list of glories war to the terror.

HEED THE WARNING

MANY MAYSVILLE PEOPLE HAVE DONE SO

When the kidneys are sick they give unmistakable warnings that should not be ignored. By examining the urine and treating the kidneys upon the first sign of disorder, many days of suffering may be saved. Sick kidneys expel a dark, ill-smelling urine, full of "brick-dust" sediment and painful in passage. Sluggish kidneys often cause a dull pain in the small of the back, headaches, dizzy spells, tired, languid feelings and rheumatic twinges.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. Maysville people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. John E. Burns of Maysville, Ky., says: "I value Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as when I gave a statement for publication in their praise some years ago. I was subject to attacks of kidney trouble and at times the pains in my back were so acute that I was confined to my bed for days. The prompt relief I received from Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at J. J. Wood & Son's Drugstore, was very gratifying, and I have had no serious return attack of kidney trouble. On some occasions, I have felt a slight twinge but a few doses of this valuable remedy have never failed to benefit me."

WEDDED SIXTY YEARS

Career

Colonel C. B. Childs, chief engineer in the construction of the C. & O. down the Ohio and well known to many of our people, celebrated his 60th wedding day yesterday as told by Thursday's Commercial Tribune, which says:
"Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Childs will today celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary.
Mr. Childs' recent serious illness prevents suitable celebration of this unusual occasion by their many friends in Cincinnati and vicinity, whose kindly regards and congratulations are extended.

"For over forty years Mr. Childs has been a resident of this county. Born eighty-eight years ago in Vermont, he early entered into the railway business, which he followed as civil engineer and contractor until his retirement in the early nineties. Many of the important trunk lines in the Central West were constructed under his supervision. The last work, rounding out his career, being the construction of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway from Huntington to Covington.

"Mr. Childs enlisted in 1861 for the war of the rebellion and served as Captain of Company B, Eighth Vermont Volunteer Infantry, a part of the army of the gulf, under command of General Benjamin F. Butler, who appointed Captain Childs provost marshal of New Orleans.

Captain Childs is an honored member of the Ohio commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and is the oldest member on the oldest member of Judge of Masons.

Childs are beloved members
Church. They reside
at Worthington avenue, Lockland, O.

Four children were given to them, three of whom are living, who with their five grandchildren and two great grandchildren, will with them mark the passing of this eventful day.

A photograph shown in this issue was taken on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary in 1902. Mrs. Childs is wearing the same dress she wore when married and her hair is dressed in the style of fifty years ago."

IF YOU HAVE A SICKLY YOUNGSTER TRY THIS FREE

The family with young children that is without sickness in the house now and then is rare, and so it is important that the head of the house should know what to do in the little emergencies that arise. A child with a serious ailment needs a doctor, it is true, but in the majority of instances,
as any doctor knows, the child suffers from some intestinal trouble, usually constipation.

There is no sense in giving it a pill or a remedy containing an opiate, nor is flushing of the bowels to be always recommended. Rather give it a small dose of a mild, gentle laxative tonic
like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, by cleaning out the bowels and strengthening the little stomach muscles, will immediately correct the trouble.

This is not alone our opinion but that of Mrs. N. H. Mead of Freeport, Kan., whose granddaughter has been taking it successfully and of Mrs. J.
R. Whiting of Lena, Wis., who gives it to her children and takes it herself.
It is sold in fifty cent and one dollar bottles at every drug store, but if you want to test it in your family before you buy it send your address to Dr.
Caldwell and he will forward a trial
bottle free of charge.

Address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell,
541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

The present fashion of wearing the hair softly parted, without puffs and braids, demands a naturally fine head of hair, and women with thin, faded locks are at their wits' end to know how to make their hair look well. The first step toward this end is to keep hair and scalp in a healthy condition by the systematic use of a stimulating tonic.

HAY'S HAIR HEALTH contains all the health-giving ingredients needed by the starved hair roots. It destroys dandruff germs and encourages rapid growth of strong, new hair. Those hopelessly dry, faded looking locks grow soft, lustrous and youthful and the whole appearance is improved. You can get it at any druggist's for 50c, or $1 per bottle or from the Philo Hay Spec. Co., Newark, N. J.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube.
When this tube is inflamed, you have a running ear and imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; and cases of deafness caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.
